

Soccer in the United States

& Internationals Soccer Club's Involvement

 Teams and Programs Currently Fielded by Internationals Club

 Teams Under the Name of Cleveland Internationals May Form in Future

Premier Developmental League...

The PDL, a 56-team league, offers top players in the US and Canada the opportunity to perform in a professional-like setting during the summer months allowing collegiate players to maintain their college eligibility. Each team will play a minimum of 18 games (9 home, 9 away). The first four games of the season will be used to qualify for the Lamar Hunt US Open Cup. The Open Cup features teams from USASA, PDL, USL Pro Soccer League, A-League and MLS. Cleveland Internationals will participate for the first time in 2004.

Women's League...

The W-League, the oldest national soccer league for women, is a 37-team league for 2004. The league will permit the nation's best college and post-collegiate players the opportunity to play alongside established international players while maintaining their remaining collegiate eligibility. Each team will play a minimum of 14 games (7 home, 7 away). Cleveland Internationals will participate for the first time in 2004.

Super Y-League...

Affiliated with US Soccer, the Super Y-League is designed for talented youth players destined for professional levels. Internationals will participate for the first time in 2004 in the 300-plus team league. The club will field teams in Boys U13, U14, U15, U16, U17, U19, and Girls U14, U16 and U19 age groups.

Major League Soccer...

MLS enters its ninth season in 2004. It is the only professional league of its level in the United States. A typical season for an MLS team includes 30 (15 home, 15 away) regular season matches along with a series of games including—Lamar Hunt US Open Cup, CONCACAF Champions Cup, select international tournaments and exhibition games.

A-League...

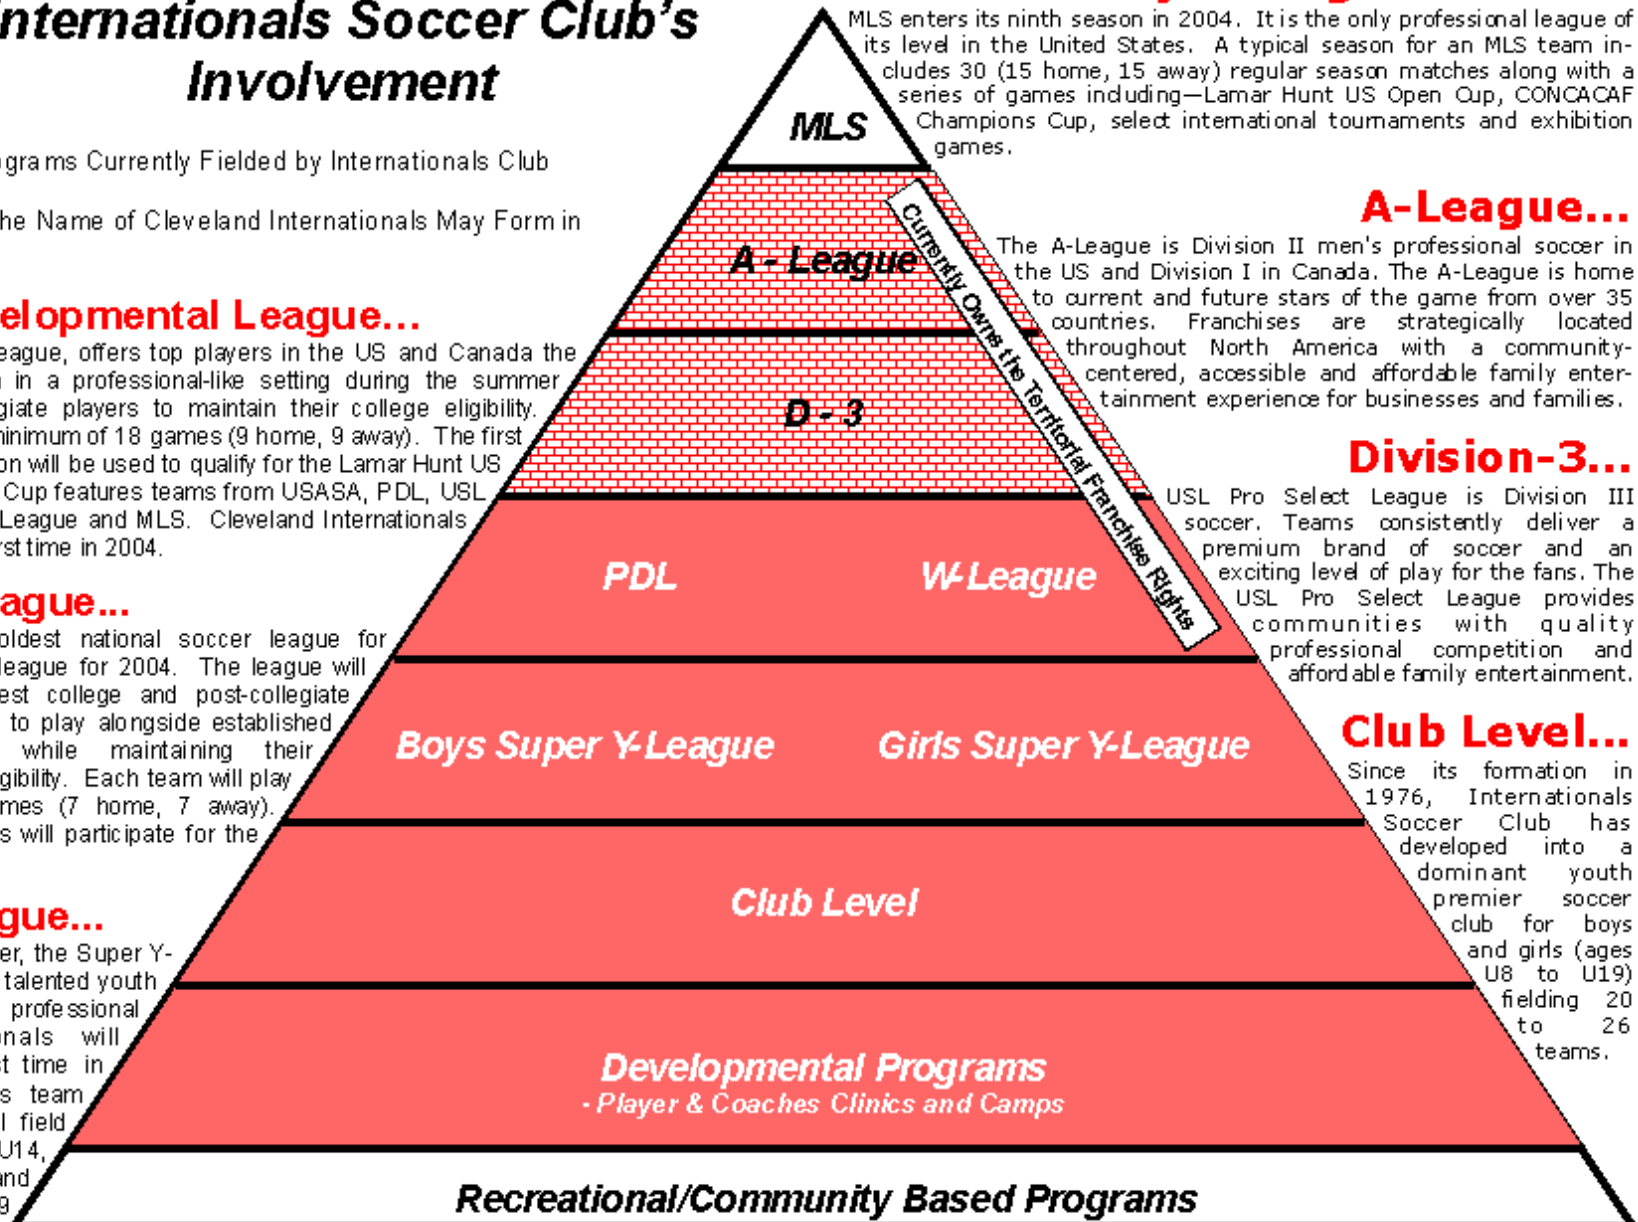

The A-League is Division II men's professional soccer in the US and Division I in Canada. The A-League is home to current and future stars of the game from over 35 countries. Franchises are strategically located throughout North America with a community-centered, accessible and affordable family entertainment experience for businesses and families.

Division-3...

USL Pro Select League is Division III soccer. Teams consistently deliver a premium brand of soccer and an exciting level of play for the fans. The USL Pro Select League provides communities with quality professional competition and affordable family entertainment.

Club Level...

Since its formation in 1976, Internationals Soccer Club has developed into a dominant youth premier soccer club for boys and girls (ages U8 to U19) fielding 20 to 26 teams.

Recreational/Community Based Programs